

DARBY SOUNDS OPENING GUN FOR SENATE SEAT

Raymond V. Darby, county supervisor for this district, launched his campaign for a seat in the United States Senate last night in his hometown of Inglewood.

The well-known Republican cocked an eye in the direction of the June 6, 1950 California primary election and outlined an 11-point platform embracing foreign policy, the peril of Communism, the water supply problem, employment conditions, and the price situation.

Darby was introduced by City Attorney Clyde Woodworth as "the outstanding citizen of Inglewood" at the dinner in the supervisors' honor.

A keynote speech by Editor Roy Rosenberg of the Sacramento Union predicted that "the people of California will respond to Darby's statewide appeal for support at the polls in 1950."

Darby has represented the Lomita area on the Board of Supervisors since 1914 during a period of local civic growth which included a park, community building, and fire engine for the community.

He was first elected to public office in 1927 as Inglewood City

Councilman, then re-elected as Mayor.

Darby based his campaign on the following platform:

1. I stand for and believe in the American way of Life as against Totalitarianism, as enforced by Russia, in free enterprise as against Communism and Socialism.
2. I stand for and believe in the necessity for strong national defense, in the economic recovery of Europe through the Marshall Plan, and believe that we should maintain a firm stand against any aggressor.
3. I stand for and believe that every loyal American should be willing, if requested, to take a solemn oath of loyalty to support the Constitution.
4. I stand for and believe that both labor and management should demand reasonable contracts commensurate with ability to perform, and once entered into, these should be adhered to by each.
5. I stand for and believe that aged and blind persons, and welfare contributions from public funds, should be adequate but strictly limited to those in need.
6. I stand for and believe that taxpayer should not be called upon to spend themselves to destruction.
7. I stand for and believe that America's boys and girls should be trained and educated to take care of themselves and pay their own way.
8. I stand for and believe in the conservation and development of all of our natural resources, with particular emphasis upon the development of new sources of water and power.
9. I stand for and believe that America's future and happiness lies in the strengthening of home life and the assumption by parents of their personal responsibility to their children.
10. I stand for and believe that California has a great destiny and economic prosperity, if developed along sound lines.
11. I stand for and believe in the need for the moral and religious re-education of children and the right of

FIREWORKS SHOW SET FOR COLISEUM.

For the second consecutive year the Los Angeles County Council of the American Legion will hold the annual Coliseum Independence Day Fireworks Show on two nights, according to an announcement this week.

This year, the traditional show will be held July 3 and 4 with more than $60,000 planned to be spent to again make the spectacle the nation's largest.

COUNTY SIGNS LIBRARY LEASE

The county will be paying $10 more a month for the Lomita Branch Library building at 24704 Narbonne avenue starting July 1.

Board of Supervisors has approved the new lease which calls for a rental payment of $65 a month. The local library has operated in the same building for the past 16 years.

citizens to support the church group of their choice. Remembering this, because it is high fundamental and vitally important, America must be spiritually strong to retain the high place it now holds as the chief hope of the civilized world.

FERTILIZER PLANT OK'D

In spite of the objection of several residents in the area, the County Regional Planning Commission last week recommended that the Board of Supervisors approve the establishment of a fertilizer plant in the Keystone area.

The plant which would be operated by applicant Wilford Callaway, would be located on a site in an unzoned area on the east side of Normandie avenue, north of Del Amo street. Callaway proposes to process, sell, and deliver manure.

The Commission also recommended that the Supervisors okay the application of Mrs. Eugene Emhard of 20920 Jamison street, to create a cut and cover dump east of Jamison street, between East Road and Dominguez street.

A DIPLOMATIC ISLAND

The Isle of Man is often referred to as the "British Diplomat Island" because it is the same distance from England, Scotland and Ireland.
